

BIOGRAPHY

Stephanie S. Eige

As founder of Eige Consulting Services (ECS), Stephanie S. Eige has nearly 10 years experience in the communications field. She specializes in helping small businesses, usually on a tight budget, by getting creative and being highly targeted as to how and where marketing dollars are spent.

Prior to starting ECS, Eige worked for an advertising agency where she simultaneously managed several large agency accounts in addition to managing an internal team including media, creative, public relations, production, and accounting. She has also worked in the communications and marketing field for a real estate company and a large textile company.

Eige has a Graduate Degree in communication studies with an emphasis in public relations and organizational communication from the University of North Carolina at Charlotte where she also received her B.A. Degree majoring in communication studies and psychology.

As well as running her business, Eige is also married and the mother of a 14 month old son and expecting her second child in July 2008.
